Chapter 113. Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills for Social Studies

Subchapter B. Middle School

§113.18. Social Studies, Grade 6, Adopted 2026. [Conforming, align with current TAC numbering]

- (a) Implementation. The provisions of this section shall be implemented by school districts beginning with the 2030-2031 school year.
- (b) Introduction.
 - (1) In Grade 6, students study political, economic, and social change in the world, the United States, and Texas during the 19th and early 20th centuries. Students examine how ideas about liberty, opportunity, equality, and government power shaped historical events and continue to influence civic life.
 - (A) Students explore how revolutionary ideas spread across Europe and the Americas, including the influence of the American Revolution on independence movements such as the Mexican War for Independence. They examine how the Early Republic expanded, built national identity, and addressed political and economic challenges.
 - (B) Students investigate westward expansion and its impact on Texas and the nation. They analyze how migration, technology, economic opportunity, and beliefs such as Manifest Destiny shaped settlement and affected American Indian communities. Students study the settlement of Texas, the Texas Revolution, statehood, and the Mexican-American War to understand how conflict and political decisions shaped Texas's development.
 - (C) Students examine how slavery and sectional conflict between Northern and Southern states led to the Civil War.
 - (D) Students examine the Reconstruction Era, including African Americans' acquisition of citizenship, individual rights, and the long-term effects of the Civil War.
 - (E) Students examine how Reconstruction sought to redefine citizenship, rights, and responsibilities, while also considering the long-term effects of the conclusion of the Civil War.
 - (F) Students examine the Gilded Age and the closing of the frontier. They examine how industrialization, immigration, urban growth, and technological change transformed Texas and American societies.
 - (G) Throughout Grade 6, students use maps, timelines, and primary and secondary sources to analyze cause and effect, compare perspectives, and identify continuity and change.
 - (2) The primary purpose of Texas and American social studies is to educate students to become responsible, self-governing citizens who respect the rights of their fellow citizens and who cherish liberties and laws. Over the course of multiple grades:
 - (A) students understand how to preserve [conforming] liberty as citizens who value the idea of civic virtue under the Constitution;
 - (B) students understand that a constitutional republic is a representative form of government whose elected leaders derive their authority from the consent of the governed and are sworn to uphold the Constitution. Students also understand that the United States was formed as a federal republic, a union of sovereign states, with a general government formed for limited purposes; and
 - (C) students understand the benefits of the United States free enterprise system, also referenced as capitalism or the free market system. This system, predicated on limited government and strong property rights, emphasizes the individual exercise of economic decisions without government interference, allowing people the opportunity to prosper.

- (3) In Grades 3-8, the adopted social studies framework provides a structural guide for how content is sequenced across grade levels. The framework also creates a distribution of content related to Texas, U.S., and world history at each grade level, using a chronological approach. In Kindergarten-Grade 2, the framework provides a focus on building a foundation of stories about people, places, events, ideas, and traditions of America and Texas.
- (4) Student expectations are organized around key topics, identified as knowledge and skills statements. Within each key topic, expectations address concepts as they relate to these topics chronologically. Where key topics are thematic rather than chronological, incorporate these thematic concepts into stories and history to create schema for understanding.
- (5) Student expectations within each knowledge and skills key topic address the statutory requirements listed in paragraph (7) of this subsection while also making continual connections across those key topics and grade levels. Student expectations contain strand codes at the end of each statement. Strands include:
 - (A) History (World, United States, and Texas), coded with H;
 - (B) Government and Civics, coded with G/Civ;
 - (C) Geography and Culture, coded with Geo/C;
 - (D) Economics, coded with E; and
 - (E) Social Studies Skills, based on disciplinary thinking skills, coded with S.
- (6) Social studies skills are incorporated into the teaching of social studies content. Students use social studies practices to demonstrate understanding and apply reasoning to the study of people, places, issues, and events. A greater depth of understanding of complex content material is attained when social studies content and disciplinary thinking skills are taught together. Skills should include:
 - (A) identify the author of a source, explain the historical context in which it was created, and analyze how the author's point of view may have influenced its content (H, S);
 - (B) evaluate the credibility and reliability of sources by examining their origin, purpose, and potential bias, and corroborate information across sources to draw evidence-based conclusions (H, S);
 - (C) distinguish between primary and secondary sources and explain the advantages and limitations of each for understanding a historical event or period (H, S);
 - (D) analyze cause-and-effect relationships between historical events, distinguishing between immediate causes and long-term contributing factors (H, S);
 - (E) compare and contrast multiple perspectives on a historical event, including the perspectives of groups whose voices are less represented in traditional historical accounts (H, S);
 - (F) develop and support a historical argument using evidence from primary and secondary sources, including a clear claim, supporting evidence, and reasoned analysis (H, S);
 - (G) construct and interpret timelines to sequence events, identify patterns of historical change and continuity, and analyze relationships between events across time periods (H, S); and §113.23. Social Studies, Grade 8, Adopted 2026.

- (a) Implementation. The provisions of this section shall be implemented by school districts beginning with the 2030-2031 school year.
- (b) Introduction.
 - (1) Social studies instruction in Grade 8 is a Texas history capstone course emphasizing vertically aligned topics presented in Grades 3-7 in more complex and meaningful ways. In Grade 8, students study the history of Texas from the earliest human presence through the early 21st century to understand how geography, culture, conflict, and economic change shaped the state's identity. Students examine how Texas developed within regional, national, and global contexts and how American founding ideals and historical decisions continue to influence life in Texas today.
 - (A) Students explore the geography and prehistoric past of Texas to understand how early peoples adapted to their environments and organized their societies. They examine European exploration, colonization, and the Mexican National Period to understand how imperial competition, political change, and settlement shaped early Texas.
 - (B) Students study the Texas Revolution, the Republic of Texas, and early statehood to understand how political conflict, military struggle, and nation-building influenced Texas's path. They examine annexation, slavery, sectional tension, and the Civil War, and analyze how Reconstruction reshaped Texas government, society, and the frontier.
 - (C) Students examine Texas's transformation during the late 19th and 20th centuries, including industrialization, ranching, immigration, oil development, and global conflict. They analyze how the Great Depression, World War II, civil rights efforts, modernization, and demographic change reshaped Texas communities and expanded the role of government.
 - (D) Students examine contemporary Texas. They analyze how energy markets, politics, migration, culture, and economic change shaped Texas from the 1970s to the present and how American founding principles continue to influence Texas government, law, and civic culture.
 - (E) Throughout Grade 8, students use maps, primary and secondary sources, and historical analysis to examine cause and effect, compare perspectives, and identify continuity and change.
 - (2) The primary purpose of Texas and American social studies is to educate students to become responsible, self-governing citizens who respect the rights of their fellow citizens and who cherish liberties and laws. Over the course of multiple grades:
 - (A) students understand how to emulate the preservation of liberty as citizens who value the idea of civic virtue under the Constitution;

- (B) students understand that a constitutional republic is a representative form of government whose elected leaders derive their authority from the consent of the governed and are sworn to uphold the Constitution. Students also understand that the United States was formed as a federal republic, a union of sovereign states, with a general government formed for limited purposes; and
- (C) students understand the benefits of the United States free enterprise system, also referenced as capitalism or the free market system. This system, predicated on limited government and strong property rights, emphasizes the individual exercise of economic decisions without government interference, allowing people the opportunity to prosper.
- (3) In Grades 3-8, the adopted social studies framework provides a structural guide for how content is sequenced across grade levels. The framework also creates a distribution of content related to Texas, U.S., and world history at each grade level, using a chronological approach. In Kindergarten-Grade 2, the framework provides a focus on building a foundation of stories about people, places, events, ideas, and traditions of America and Texas.
- (4) Student expectations are organized around key topics, identified as knowledge and skills statements. Within each key topic, expectations address concepts as they relate to these topics chronologically. Where key topics are thematic rather than chronological, incorporate these thematic concepts into stories and history to create schema for understanding.
- (5) Student expectations within each knowledge and skills key topic address the statutory requirements listed in paragraph (7) of this subsection while also making continual connections across those key topics and grade levels. Student expectations contain strand codes at the end of each statement. Strands include:
 - (A) History (World, United States, and Texas), coded with H;
 - (B) Government and Civics, coded with G/Civ;
 - (C) Geography and Culture, coded with Geo/C;
 - (D) Economics, coded with E; and
 - (E) Social Studies Skills, based on disciplinary thinking skills, coded with S.
- (6) Social studies skills are incorporated into the teaching of social studies content. Students use social studies practices to demonstrate understanding and apply reasoning to the study of people, places, issues, and events. A greater depth of understanding of complex content material is attained when social studies content and disciplinary thinking skills are taught together. Skills should include:
 - (A) identify the author of a source, explain the historical context in which it was created, and analyze how the author's point of view may have influenced its content (H, S);
 - (B) evaluate the credibility and reliability of sources by examining their origin, purpose, and potential bias, and corroborate information across sources to draw evidence-based conclusions (H, S);
 - (C) distinguish between primary and secondary sources and explain the advantages and limitations of each for understanding a historical event or period (H, S);
 - (D) analyze cause-and-effect relationships between historical events, distinguishing between immediate causes and long-term contributing factors (H, S);
 - (E) compare and contrast multiple perspectives on a historical event, including the perspectives of groups with different viewpoints (H, S);
 - (F) develop and support a historical argument using evidence from primary and secondary sources, including a clear claim, supporting evidence, and reasoned analysis (H, S);

- (G) construct and interpret timelines to sequence events, identify patterns of historical change and continuity, and analyze relationships between events across time periods (H, S); and
 - (H) engage in civil discourse about social studies topics, including those with multiple perspectives (H, G/Civ, S).
 - (7) Student expectations embed relevant statutory requirements, including:
 - (A) Texas Education Code (TEC), §28.002(a)(1)(D)--Social Studies, consisting of Texas, United States, and world history; government; economics, with emphasis on the free enterprise system and its benefits; and geography;
 - (B) TEC, §28.002(a)(2)(G)--Religious Literature, including the Hebrew Scriptures (Old Testament) and New Testament, and its impact on history and literature;
 - (C) TEC, §28.002(h)--Informed American Patriotism, Texas History, and the Free Enterprise System;
 - (D) TEC, §28.002(h-1)(1)-(3), (h-2)(1)-(3), and (h-3)--Knowledge of Civics;
 - (E) TEC, §28.002(h-1)(4)--Founding documents and primary sources of the United States;

 - (H) TEC, §29.907--Celebrate Freedom Week;
 - (I) TEC, §29.9071--Texas Military Heroes Day; and
 - (J) TEC, §29.9072--Holocaust Remembrance Week.
 - (8) There is no effective study of social studies without review of primary sources. In certain circumstances, specific primary sources are named in the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS), but instructional materials should include additional primary sources relevant to subjects identified in the TEKS. Primary sources are embedded as appropriate within the context of the study of history. Additional primary source material, including written documents, visual sources, audio and audio-visual sources, oral sources, and artifacts are encouraged. Primary source material should be used where appropriate and must be used when identified in a student expectation. In early grades, before students have requisite reading skills to read directly from copies of primary sources, the primary source materials should be included as a visual aid.
 - (9) To support the teaching of essential knowledge and skills, the use of a variety of rich material is encouraged. Where appropriate, local topics should be included to create relevance. Motivating resources are available from museums, historical sites, presidential libraries, local and state civic offices, and preservation societies.
 - (10) The list of places, events, and people in this course curriculum is not considered exhaustive.
